The Daily Courant.

Wedneſday, March 25. 1713.

Yeſterday Morning came in a Mail from Holland.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated April 1.

Vienna, March 18.

THE Court goes into Mourning to Morrow for the late King of Pruſſia. This Ceremony is to laſt for 6 Weeks, or till his Imperial Majeſty goes to Laxembourg, which will be in April. 'Tis thought he will ſtay there till the End of May. The Court is reſolved to enlarge very much the Gardens of the Palace la Favorita, and to beautify them with all imaginable Ornaments. It is not yet known when the Emperor will go to Presbourg to terminate the Diet of Hungary. Letters from Adrianople confirm our laſt Accounts of the King of Sweden; adding, that of the Turks and Tartars there were 4000 Men left dead on the Place; and that after the King was taken, they put him into a cloſe Chariot in a Manner very unſuitable to his Rank, and ſaid at firſt they would carry him to Salonica; but that the Sultan being informed of all that had happened to the King, was ſo much diſturbed at it, that it is thought the Han of the Tartars, the Seraskier of Bender, and other great Officers who had a Part in it, are in Danger of being ruined. That the Sultan had given Orders hereupon that the King ſhould not be conducted to Salonica, but to Conſtantinople, or ſome other Port, from whence he might be tranſported to Marſeilles. That King Staniſlaus being diſcovered at Jaſſy, the Hoſpodar gave Advice of it to the Grand Signior, who immediately ordered him to be ſeized, and ſent Priſoner to Ackerman, called by the Greeks Aſpro Caſtro, and by the Italians Caſtel Bianco. The Waywode of Kiow was ſent to the Braila, to remain there in Priſon till further Order. The Waywode of Mazuren, Ambaſſador of the King and of the Republick of Poland, is ſet out from hence in order to return home. There are Advices which ſay, that if the Swedes, after their Victory at Mecklenbourg, had advanced and penetrated into Poland, the Turks would not have come to theſe Extremities with their King. Prince Eugene ſets out in eight Days for Berlin, and goes from thence to the Netherlands.

Tergoviſta in Walachia, Feb. 25. After the King of Sweden was carried to Bender, and had been kept for ſome Days in the Palace of the Paſcia, his Majeſty was carried from thence (the 17th) in a Chariot cloſed up on all Sides, under a Guard of 500 Turks, his Sword and all other Weapons of Defence being taken from him. 'Tis not yet known whether he will be conducted to Conſtantinople, Adrianople, or Saloniça, but the Commander of the Convoy will receive the Sultan's Orders on the Road. Four or Five Hundred Swedes who were taken, are likewiſe to be carried to a particular Place, where they are to remain till further Orders.

From the Hague Courant, dated March 31.

Vienna, March 18. Several Couriers have arrived here within theſe few Days from Utrecht and other Places, which have given Occaſion to the holding of frequent and long Councils, but we know not what is reſolved upon in them. The Count de Heyſter, Camp-Marſhal, went Yeſterday for Steurmark, and Prince Eugene intends to ſet out to Morrow for Holland, but is to viſit ſeveral Courts in his Way. The Miniſters of the Duke de Guaſtalla received Yeſterday, in the Name of their Maſter, the Inveſtiture with the uſual Ceremonies for the Dutchy of Guaſtalla, Luzara, Reggiole and Sabioneta.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated March 31.

They write from Coire, that the Treaty of Alliance between the States-General and the Confederate Griſons was ratified there the 14th Inſtant.

From the Cantonment of Anderlecht, March 27. The Enemy continues to make great Preparations to form a Cantonment between the Sambre and the Meuſe, and it is confirmed that they are to ſend a conſiderable Detachment into Germany. In the mean time, they have lately deſiſted from working upon the Magazines of Arras, Cambray, and Valenciennes. And ſeveral Colonels have ſent from Paris to the Officers of the Regiments which are in Garriſon, to forbear providing Tents, or delivering Cloaths to the Soldiers till further Orders. The Enemy are working to make the Scarp navigable from Doway to Arras. The Artillery deſigned for our Cantonment arrived here Yeſterday from Malines.
